Instructions

Create or have participants create small groups to work in.
Allocate each group a scenario to analyse.
Groups brainstorm and answer the general questions about the scenarios.
Groups share their scenario and responses back with the whole group.
Additional ideas can be shared by wider group.

1. You arrive at the beach with your parents, and you can't see any patrol flags. Your mum points out the red danger flag flying on the surf club.
2. You are down at the beach on a school trip playing beach volleyball. Someone suggests you should go in for a 'quick dip' to cool off. You notice a danger rips sign.
3. You are swimming close to shore when you feel the water moving out to sea. You think you might be caught in a rip.
4. You have been out surfing for a long time and notice you are feeling cold. It is a grey, windy day and not very warm.
5. If you turn up to the beach and you see the red flag on the lifeguard tower, what does this mean?

Top tips

1. What does this mean?
2. What should you do?
3. How could you find more information? Or how could you get help?
